Core Anger Styles: Theoretical Foundations Psychologists have proposed various models to categorize anger responses. A prominent framework divides anger into four primary styles, each with unique characteristics:

- Chronic Anger (Hostile) Style
Characteristics: Persistent feelings of irritability and hostility. Tendency to interpret others' actions as intentionally provocative. Often displays a cynical or aggressive attitude.
Implications: Chronic anger can lead to ongoing conflicts and health issues like hypertension. Individuals exhibiting this style may benefit from cognitive restructuring to reframe perceptions and reduce hostility.
- Controlled or Suppressed Anger Style
Characteristics: Tendency to inhibit outward expressions of anger. Often suppresses feelings to avoid conflict or social judgment. May experience internal stress, anxiety, or somatic symptoms.
Implications: Suppressed anger can accumulate, leading to emotional burnout or outbursts later. Strategies such as assertiveness training help express emotions healthily.
- Expressive or Outward Anger Style
Characteristics: Openly displays anger through yelling, blaming, or physical actions. Often impulsive in reactions, with difficulty calming down. May experience regret or shame afterward.
Implications: While immediate expression can relieve tension, uncontrolled outward anger damages relationships. Anger management techniques focus on impulse control and calming methods. Mild or Low-Level Anger Style Characteristics: Experiences anger infrequently and with less intensity. Usually manages feelings without significant conflict. Sometimes suppresses even minor frustrations. Implications: This style generally indicates effective emotional regulation, but suppression of even minor frustrations can lead to unresolved issues.
